

The Bauer P.6 Studio projector. Sound advice for professional film makers.

If you are a maker of sound films of any kind, precision in dubbing and synchronization are essential to you. Professional studios have found that the double band technique, which permits the recording and editing of sound on separate perforated magnetic tape, offers the ultimate in sound tracking flexibility and precision.

And the new portable Bauer P.6 Studio projector is the ultimate in double band projectors. It's the right piece of equipment at the right time for audio-visual and commercial T.V. producers as well as industrial and advertising film makers. For further specifications, just call or write Kingsway Film Equipment. We've got sound advice for you.
